SAMUEL HUGHES.

Good news comes to us from every quarter. Letters from Phenix say: Count on a majority in Salt river valley, for McCormick. One from Arizona city says: All along the River McCormick will get nearly every vote. W. L. Fowler now in from San Pedro reports: Of 17 votes there, Brady will get but two. Mr. Hooker writes from Prescott to Captain Hinds, to not bet his money on Brady. A truthful man writes that he heard Brady ask, in his maudlin speech at Adamsville, "am I compelled to answer for the misdeeds of the Ourys and Mowry!"

We could almost fill our paper with as cheerful news.

The great Prescott convention of October 1st to 3d, consisted of eleven delegates, 7 from Prescott and 4 from Wickenburg and Salt River. We have twenty letters, written by the most cautious calculators, saying that not even all the delegates will stand the nominations; that a large majority of the better Democrats are utterly disgusted with them, and will oppose the convention's doings.

Consistency.

[From Dooner's Arizonian, Aug. 20.]

We heartily endorse the following opinion, expressed by the Oakland (Cal.) Evening Termini.

President rant has appointed Mr. John Wasson as Surveyor-General of Arizona. There could not be a better appointment than this. Mr. Wasson is well known in Oakland as a high-minded gentleman, perfectly reliable and candid in all his dealings. Mr. W. has also a wide reputation as a writer for the press. His appointment will please legions of friends.

PETER VAN HERREN was appointed J. P. for Horace Precinct, October 5; and on the 21st, Horace E. Lindsay J. P. for Arizona City.

THE INDIAN VOTE.

At the election, in 1868, only five Indians on the Pima Reserve were found with tickets in their hands seeking to vote, and in every case the ticket was for John A. Rush in opposition to McCormick, which argues that at that date McCormick's opponents were in some way courting the Indians' vote and favor—probably by promising to aid in the extension of their Reservation. McCormick's own letter relating to the Indian vote and out of which so much capital is advened to him is sought to be made, will be published in the CITIZEN next week. It simply proposes a proper question to the proper Department for a construction upon a franchise law of the United States—nothing more.

The Alta, we believe, was the first to stir up the subject, and that is the sluiceway through which the vagabond Mowry is enabled to slander Gov's McCormick and Safford, and others, all of whom are truly able friends of Arizona. The enemies of McCormick were the first to attempt to get the Indian vote, and are now the only ones, if there be anybody, seeking it.

McCormick has always, in his acts bearing upon the Indians, opposed each and all their wrongs against, and their unjust exactions of, the settlers. He does so yet, and is thus upon the record as Governor, Delegate and public writer. The chief of his opponents, Mowry, is the bad man who first started the proposition to enlarge the Reservation, and led the Indians to believe they have rights to the settlers' lands on the Gila; and the full truth will exhibit the fact that the prime movers to secure the Indians vote and extend the Pima and Maricopa Reservations, are embraced in the number supporting P. R. Brady for delegate.

The comparison of the men who lead the opposition against McCormick and the People's nominations in this canvas, is that of knave and fool. They knavishly charge all sorts of villainies against McCormick and his friends, and that the former has no influence at Washington, and in the same breath credit the defeat of the P. R. R. Bill to his power over Congress! Was there ever greater knavery and foolery uttered in one sentence than they do in this?

There is no necessity for the gods to make greater bedlamites of McCormick's opposers, by way of preparation for their destruction.

PEOPLE'S CONVENTION.

The People's Pima county convention have selected an excellent ticket for both legislative and county officers, and one that will be elected by a very large majority. The ticket is at the head of our columns, and blazoned forth on large double sheet posters, printed at the CITIZEN office.

The convention was harmonious and promptly did its work.

The official proceedings appear on our first page.

The several resolutions are brief, clear, and devoid of partisan clap-trap. Good, solid sense pervades them, making just such a platform as the people prefer while in a Territorial condition. There is no useless parade of national matters, over which the people of Arizona have not the least influence.

The convention most heartily and completely endorsed Hon. R. C. McCormick's course as Delegate, and expressed a preference for him to serve longer in that capacity. And he'll do it.

Interesting to Dooner.

The annexed letter was addressed, at its date, to a prominent gentleman in Tucson:

TUCSON, A. T., Oct. 15, 1870.

SIR:—As you have expressed a desire to purchase the press, type, etc., of the "Arizonian" I beg to inform you that immediately after the election, Nov. 8, 1870, it will be for sale to the highest bidder.

Wm. S. Oury Esq. is in full power to make a deed for the same.

Your obt. serv't. SILVESTER MOWRY.

Col. SANFORD's friends on the Gila are quite unanimous for McCormick.

Ratification Meeting Last Saturday Night.

The action of the Pima county People's convention last Saturday, was most enthusiastically approved in the evening of that day. A brilliant display of fireworks preceded the speeches, and a brass band gave additional eclat to the exercises.

The court house was filled completely, and the meeting organized by the choice of Gen. John M. Allen, President, and S. R. DeLong Secretary.

Upon taking the chair, General Allen stated the object of the meeting, and most heartily endorsed the entire action of the People's convention. After which, stirring speeches were made by Dr. F. H. Goodwin, Sr. J. M. Ianza, and Major D. H. Stickney. We have a full and graphic report of the speeches, all of which were able and true. We find room for this much of Dr. Goodwin's remarks:

"We are here to-night to ratify the action of the convention held to-day—a convention of The People, not a Republican or Democratic convention. Most of the delegates to the convention are democrats, but no word of partisan feeling has entered into your proceedings, nor do you express partisan feeling in your platform. You have nominated men from both parties, thus showing an active opposition to the division of our young Territory by party lines. We have no voice in the councils of the nation, but are supplicants at its door, and therefore for our own preservation let us be united. * * * We want men for office who are true, and being true, we care not what their political creed may be. We want men who will devote their energies and talents to the development of our vast and now dormant resources, rather than those who base their claims to your support upon the narrow limits of party politics. When the time comes for us to take our place among the galaxy of States, and questions of national polity demand our consideration, then, and not until then, let us make party issues. As most of you know, gentlemen, I am a democrat. My devotion to those principles, has cost me much, and I have the right, as every man present has, to think and act for myself. * * * and I ask in all candor, if, because John B. Allen, Major Aldrich, and a majority of such of the democrats of Pima county, choose to think for themselves, and vote for the best interests of their country, I ask if they are justly called "non-descripts"—these men who voted the democratic ticket before the little gentleman who aspires to lead them, was born."

The meeting was the largest ever held in Pima county, and proved what a vast majority of the people are for the People's nominees for all the offices from constable up to Delegate.

EACH of the five legislatures that have assembled in Arizona, passed with rare unanimity resolutions highly complimenting Governor McCormick for eminent capacity, integrity and impartiality. In nearly every instance the majority did not politically agree with him, but they recognized in him a high order of ability and official probity, and placed that recognition in unmistakable language in the Territorial Statutes.

Mr. E. N. FISH, with his own hand, resigned his office of supervisor of Pima County: but that did not prevent nor deter the malicious booby of the Arizonian charging that some one else wrote the resignation, and committed forgery by signing Mr. Fish's name to it. Anybody who knows his signature can see how false the charge is by examining the document on file in the recorder's office.

What a bad cause this fellow has to advocate, when his own paper is proof that he has no truth with which to recommend it to public favor.

Our space utterly excludes the Tubac correspondence. After election, gentlemen, your diary of events in that quarter will be very acceptable and published.

CAPT. NETTERVILLE, and Lieuts Silva, Riley and Garrett are in from Grant with an escort of twenty men.

GOV. BASHFORD will be in Tucson by next Saturday.

LAST Wednesday morning, the body of Manuel Carpenas was discovered in the southern suburbs of the city. He was horribly gashed up about the head with a knife, and shot with a bullet under the left eye.

LAST mail from San Diego reached Tucson in 4½ days. This is very quick time, and it is a comfort to know that Mr. Capron has all arrangements complete to keep up a prompt mail service. He left for San Diego on Thursday.

FRAUD.

The Arizonian is crazily bawling over frauds which it asserts the friends of McCormick intend to perpetrate at the coming election. The editor knew he was punning calumnies when he made these charges, for if any frauds are intended, the small, unpopular clique he trains with contemplate committing them.

The supporters of McCormick want nothing but a just, legal vote, and they mean to see that none other is cast, so the Arizonian Pecksniff may as well quiet his nerves and be as comfortable as possible under the defeat awaiting the whole Brady outfit.
